

How to Get a Copy of Your Credit Report

If you need a copy of your most recent credit reports from any of the 3 major credit bureaus: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion, and you don't know where to get them from, then this article is for you!

Accessing your credit reports is a fairly simple process.

Instructions:

1. If you want a free copy of your reports once a year, something we don't recommend, that you can view online, or to request a hard copy that takes up to two weeks to receive via regular mail, then go online to AnnualCreditReport.com.

Scroll down to the end of the page and click the red box "Request Your Free Credit Reports"

Your credit reports matter.

- Credit reports may affect your mortgage rates, credit card approvals, apartment requests, or even your job application.
- Reviewing credit reports helps you catch signs of identity theft early.

FREE Credit Reports. Federal law allows you to:

- Get a free copy of your credit report every 12 months from each credit reporting company.
- Ensure that the information on all of your credit reports is correct and up to date.

Complete the form online and pick the reports you want mailed to you. If you choose to view your reports online, you'll complete the same step for each bureau.

Note: The free credit reports do not include your credit scores and each time you view them online it's the same report; never updated.

2. We do recommend that you sign up for a credit monitoring service. That way, you can access your reports every month to track your progress. To begin, login to your member account.
